FAQ

Do I need to be 18 to take classes and pass entrance exams to attend Carroll Community College?

Anyone over the age of 16 may take these classes with the exception of courses requiring a minimum age of 18 years old. Some programs require that you take placement tests. See the Requirements on the course information page.

Do I need high school diploma or GED to take these classes?

Some classes require either a high school diploma or a GED. See the Requirements on the course information page.

How much money will I make in my career?
What are the prospects for finding a good job?

For more information about your chosen career, visit the website for the U.S. Department of Labor, <http://www.bls.gov/oco/>. There you can search for the specific occupation you are interested in and find information about the nature of the work, working conditions, employment, training, qualifications, job outlook and earnings.
